Veterans For Peace Remembers and Commemorates the Sacrifices Made by the Nation's Fallen Service Men and Women, Memorial Day 2007

Who: Veterans For Peace, a national organization of military veterans including men and women spanning the Spanish Civil War (1936-1939), World War II, the Korean, Vietnam, the Gulf, and current Iraq wars, as well as other conflicts cold and hot.

What: Memorials, vigils and solemn programs.

Why: To remember the fallen and educate the public about the human cost of war.

Across the nation, veterans, military families and friends will gather on Monday May 28, 2007 to remember fallen loved ones, comrades and all service members who have died. Veterans For Peace will commemorate these women and men with vigils and solemn programs. Several chapters will display temporary cemeteries to represent the over 3400 fallen in the current conflict in Iraq. Other chapters will lay wreaths, flowers; have speakers, readings and march in parades.

Veterans For Peace National Executive Director stated, "It is not enough to simply remember and mourn. If we are able, we must also act. As Gene Glazer a World War II medic and Veterans For Peace a former VFP board member once told me, 'There is no better way to remember the dead than to defend the living.' We have a responsibility to educate the public on the human cost of war, the lives shattered, broken and lost. We stand as witnesses to this terrible cost and we say to our fellow citizens there is a better way. Join us as we walk the path of peace."

Veterans For Peace National President Elliot Adams comments, "While Memorial Day is a special day to remember our service members, we must not forget to remember all those who have died as a result of war. Sacrifices and tragedies are faced by all who experience the absurdity of war. We must remember everyone and in their memory we must struggle to abolish war so that instead of mourning on this day we can celebrate a victory for the power of the human spirit."

Veterans For Peace is a national organization founded in 1985. It is comprised of member across the country organized in chapters or as at-large members and supported by a national office in St. Louis, MO. There is a convention each year attended by our members, families and supporters from across the nation. Members receive periodic VFP publications. The organization includes men and women veterans of all eras and duty stations spanning the Spanish Civil War (1936-39), World War II, the Korean, Vietnam, Gulf and current Iraq wars as well as other conflicts cold or hot. Our collective experience tells us wars are easy to start and hard to stop and that those hurt are often the innocent. Thus, other means of problem solving are necessary. Veterans For Peace is an official Non-Governmental Organization (NGO) represented at the UN.
